Radical peace advocates are urging that the party denounce the President's preparedness program and assail him as a reactionary. The conservatives are opposed to criticising the President. There are symptoms that Ford is converting some of the skeptics on board to his peace program. Ford has broadened the scope of his activities. He says he is determined to end not only the war in Europe but industrial warfare. Details of his plan are being awaited with interest.

No answer has been received to the wireless message sent by Governor Hanna, of North Dakota, asking that Washington issue perspects to belligate. Washington issue passports to belligerent countries for the Ford voyagers.

Twenty Leave New York Today for Old World to Join Ford Peace Party

NEW YORK. Dec. 8 .- On the eve of the leaving of a score of pacificists who are to join Henry Ford and the others of his peace party in Sweden announcement was made at the Ford headquarters in the Biltmore Hotel that a message had been received by wireless from Mr. Ford.

Excitement prevailed among those present, but it soon was subdued when they heard this message read:

Apparently there was some anxiety aboard the Oscar II about passports, for a wireless message was received from Gov. L. B. Hanna, of North Dakota, a member of the party, asserting that he is urging Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, to issue passports which will enable members of the party to go to belligerent countries

"It is a pitiable commentary on the decline of American idealism," he said "that Henry Ford's movement is ridiculed and condemned by the Eastern press. ## Ford's Wireless Call For Congress' Support To Wait Until Friday

Henry Ford, aboard the "peace ship" Oscar II, has sent a wireless message to Congress asking support and ento Congress asking support and encouragement on his mission to Europe.

Mr. Ford's wireless message came to the office of Speaker Clark last night.
There is no session of the House today, and the petition must await the reconvening of the House next Friday for insertion in the Congressional Record, and reference to some committee. As a and reference to some committee. Asserts President Lacks Constructive Ideas and Makes Words Cover Inaction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in a statement issued upon reading the President's message of yes-terday, took issue with the Chief Executive's stand upon every point men-tioned, with the exception of the attack upon hyphenated Americans. Even there, he said, the remedy lay in the hands of the President, who has "met a policy of blood and iron with a policy of milk and water. The President, he said, is in clocu-tion "a Byzantine logothete and Byzantine logothetes were not men of action. Mr. Wilson's actions are in flat contradiction," he said. "A policy of dishonorable inaction," is his sweeping indictment of the President's course.

indictment of the President's course. The statement says in part:
"At the outset President Wilson, speaking of the war, says: 'We have stood apart, studiously neutral. It was our manifest duty to do so.' Further on he says: 'We insist upon security in prosecuting our self-chosen lines of national development. We do more than that. We demand it also for others.' Later he says: 'We regard war as a means of asserting the rights of a second against acgression,' and con-as a means of asserting the rights of a people against acgression, and continues. We are flercely jealous of aggression from without "What does Mr. Wilson mean when in one line he says that we have stood apart, studiously neutral because it was our manifest duty to do so," and a couple of paragraphs later says that 'we demand security in prosecuting their self-chosen lines of retional development for others? Ho ational development for others? national development for others? He can take either of the two positions, but he cannot take both. Did or did not Mr. Wilson 'demand security' for Belgium to 'prosecute its self-chosen lines of national development?' He knows he did not Then what does he mean by saying that 'we demand this security also for others?' Again, he says that he regards war as a "means of asserting the rights of a means of asserting the rights of a means of asserting the rights of a people against aggression, and yet he says that it was our duty to re-main studiously neutral when Bel-gium asserted the rights of her peo-ple by war against the aggression of

"How does he reconcile these two statements? He cannot do so. He is sing words to cover a policy of dishonorable inaction. Again, he says that we are flercely jealous of aggression from without.' How did he show his 'flerce jealousy' as regards the aggressions on the Lusitania and Ancona, which resulted in the loss of several scores and the jeopardy of several scores and the jeopardy of hundreds of American lives? How has he shown his 'fierce jealousy' as regards the sixty or seventy soldiers wearing the American uniform, not to speak of the women and children and civilians, killed or wounded on American soil by Mexican bullets? One symptom of his 'fierce jealousy' to prevent 'aggression from without' was the issuing of an order that our men should not fire back when fired upon. Does Mr. Wilson regard that order as 'fierce jealousy?' It does not strike any other human being as such.

"Pitiless Publicity."

"Pitiless Publicity." "Three years ago Mr. he believed in the policy of 'philess publicity.' We have never had as se cretive an Administration. The exact numbers of the soldiers of the United States army who have been killed or wounded by Mexicans cannot be told, because Mr. Wilson won't permit the figures to be made public. Neither is it possible to ascertain the exact numbers of the American men, women and children who have been killed or outraged in person or property in Mexico, because Mr. Wilson for three years has hindered all publicity, pitiless or pitiful, about these outrages in Mexico. Mr. Wilson's elecution and Mr. Wilson's action are in flat contradiction. His elecution is that of a Byzantine Logothete—and Byzantine Logothetes were not men of action.

"President Wilson says that we have been put to the test in the case of Mexico and have 'stood the test' and that we have applied a heroic principle to the case of Mexico.' Of all possible adjectives that could be found in the English language by the most minute search on the part of the most subtle dialectican it would not be possible to find one more inappropriate to the Administration's course in Mexico than the adjective 'heroic.' Nearly three years ago it possible to ascertain the exact num-one more inappropriate to the Administration's course in Mexico than the adjective 'heroic.' Nearly three years ago Mr. Wilson refused to recognize Huerta on the ground that we were never to recognize a government founded on violence. He then tentatively supported Villa, who represented the embodiment of violence; it being meanwhile asserted on behalf of the Administration that under no circumstances would we deal under no circumstances would we with Carranza, whose government like wise was founded on violence.

Says Wilson "Eats Own Words. "The President has now eaten his words and recognized Carranza; and through his private secretary he has at St. Mary's Church. issued a defense of and apology for the outrages committed by the Carranzistas and by the other bandits of the other factions in Mexico, outrages as infamous as ever were committed by savages anywhere under the sun.

"Mr. Wilson refused to employ the power of the United States to protect the lives of American men and the honor of American women or to save those wearing the United States uniform from death or from insult. He took no steps to save Mexican and foreign women, including nuns, married women and unmarried women, when they were subjected to outrages and infamies which make the white slave traffic seem trivial by comparison. But he now uses the power of the United States to help one set of the bandits responsible for these infamies against another set.

'In his present message President Wilson advocates as necessary certain propositions for putting this country in a state of preparedness to defend itself against foreign aggression. In his message one year ago he said such preparedness. ranzistas and by the other bandits of a state of preparedness to defend itself against foreign aggression. In his message one year ago he said such propositions were hysterical and improper. I am glad that he nas changed his mind, but I am sorry that he has not taken the trouble to study the subject so as to make his proposals reasonably adequate to the country's need. His proposed enlargement of the regular army is utterly inadequate. is utterly inadequate.

The proposed 'continental' amry cannot produce good results. It is a proposal that lew of the young men of the country shall for two months every year abandon their work and in the in-terest of the common defense train them-selves to defend their successful huainess rivals who decline their work in the interest of the com-mor Getense.

"This is not a square deal. It is not in scordance with the democratic ideal. The President's proposal is merely to create an inefficient rival of the National Guard without achieving any useful purpose whatever.

"It is the duty of this nation in time of peace to prepare for way, and the

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.-With his characteristic aptitude for summing up an opinion in a phrase or an allusion, Colonel Roosevelt refers to President Wilson as a "Byzantine logothete," an expression which may be more familiar in the study than on the street.

The logothete was the chancellor of the Byzantine Empire. Under a succession of vicious and weak emperors he was virtually the head of the government. And the history of the Byzantine Empire Gibbon summed up thus: "A tedious and uniform tale of weakness and misery." Taine, more graphic, called it "a gigantic moldiness, lasting a thousand years."

shipping trade. As regards the tariff we need a non-partisan tariff commissalpping trade. As regards the inriff we need a non-partisan tariff commission of experts, who shall treat the tariff as a business proposition in the interests of the business of the country as a whole and of all our fellow-citizens, so as both to secure and age-quately to distribute prosperity.

The message does not make clear what it is—if anything—which the President proposes in the way of industrial legislation or action.

Peril In Hyphenates. "The most noteworthy part of the President's message is that in which he says that the gravest threats against our national peace and national safety come from citizens of the United States born under other flags, who have been disloyal and who have sought to bring the authority and good name of our Government into contempt and to destroy our industries wherever they thought it effective for their vindictive purpose. In this he is entirely correct. But the remedy lies in action such as Andrew Jackson took about nallification, such as Grover Cleveland took about anarchy in Chicago.

"He states that we are without adequate Federal laws to deal with the situation. The duty of a leader is to lead. If President Wilson has not adequate power he should tell us exactly what he wishes in order to get the adequate power. He should demand that the National Legislature give him the power. But, as a matter of fact, Mr. Wilson is himself responsible for most of the conditions of which he complains.

"He has met a policy of blood and the services began and marched in a Divinity Hall immediately before the services began and marched in a body to the chapel. Five Masses Celebrated.

Five masses were celebrated at St Patrick's Church, the 10 o'clock service being a solemn high mass sung by the Rev. James A. Smyth. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. John M. Mc-Namara. A similar number of services were held at St. Aloysius' Church, the Rev. George Kelly, S. J., officiating and preaching at the 10 o'clock mass.

The celebration of teday as a feast day is based woon the teachers. The celebration of today as a feast day is based upon the teachings of the Catholic church "that the blessed Virgin Mary in the first instant of her conception by a singular privilege and grace granted by God, in view of the merits of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the human race, was preserved exempt from all stain of original sin at the first moment of her animation, and sanctifying grace was given to her before sin could have taken effect in her soul."

The person of Mary, in consequence of her origin from Adam, should have been subject to sin, but being the new Eve, who was to be the mother of the eve, who was to be the mother of the new Adam, she was by the merits of Christ, withdrawn from the general law of original sin. He is a greater Redeemer who pays the debt that it may not be incurred than he who pays after it has fallen on the debtor. Such is the meaning of the term 'immaculate conception.'"

Signal Methods of Civil War Is Topic of Lecture

Signal methods used during the civil war will be the subject of a lecture by Lieut. George C. Round before the Boy Scouts of Washington at Foundry Methodist Church tonight at 8 o'clock. Lieutenant Round is a veteran signalist, having served as a "wigwagger" in Sherman's army.

Among the incidents he will describe tonight will be the sending of the famous message, "Don't give up the fort," which he flashed from Kenesaw mountain ta Allatoona pass. The scouts are particularly interested in signaling, as this is one of the first subjects studied by them after joining the organization.
